COVID-19 field work update: Cardinal-Hickory Creek

Updated June 5, 2020

As energy providers in the Upper Midwest, ATC, ITC Midwest and Dairyland Power Cooperative are committed to keeping your lights on. The safety of our employees, contractors, landowners and the public during this time remains a top priority. In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, ATC and ITC Midwest on March 16 instructed our contractors and field workers performing activities on the Cardinal-Hickory Creek Transmission Line Project in Wisconsin to cease face-to-face interactions with landowners. As of April 3, ITC Midwest also temporarily ceased pre-construction field activities for two months on its Wisconsin segment of the route, including initiating any contact with landowners.

Since mid-March, communication with landowners along the ATC-owned portion of the route has primarily occurred through phone calls, email and mail. Beginning in June, face-to-face interactions between landowners, ATC staff and/or contractors also may occur. ATC field personnel who must conduct their jobs on landowner property have been provided specific COVID-19 safety instructions recommended by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and have been advised to follow these guidelines. For their safety and yours, please practice social distancing guidelines when interacting with any onsite field crews.

Along the ITC Midwest-owned portion of the Wisconsin route, pre-construction activities will resume in early June. ITC Midwest will continue to employ social distancing and other appropriate measures while conducting these pre-construction activities. No face-to-face interaction with landowners is required for the pre-construction teams. Any required landowner communication can be accomplished via telephone, email or mail.

We appreciate your understanding and hope you remain well. If you have any questions, please contact:
